T208/Resolution R128: The Spence School: 56 East 93rd Street (Individual Landmark) and 1307-09 Madison Avenue (Expanded Carnegie Hill Historic District) – Sara Grant, AIA, Partner, MBB Architects – 1307-1309 Madison Avenue is a Neo-Georgian style building designed by George V. Harvey in 1890, with updates to the façade by Moore & Landsiedel in 1930. 56 East 93rd Street, the William Goadby and Florence Baker Lowe House, also known as the "Lowe Mansion," was designed by Walker & Gillette and constructed in 1930. The application included an extension at all floors into the two buildings' rear yards to provide internal connections into the contiguous Lowe Mansion to the east, as well as improved mechanical systems and an elevator bulkhead. The buildings' rooftops will provide an outdoor play area for the Lower School. The proposal required minimal exterior work on the Mansion, primarily to connect to the row houses and its west lot line. The existing Madison Avenue façades will remain in place and will be refreshed using appropriately similar materials. The general organizational scheme and material composition of the façades will be retained, with the exception of the existing entrance doors, storefront glazing, and the added floor's new rooftop profile.
